

Things Decidedly NEW!

From Arabia

comes the "local color" for "The Sheik"—a new turban for smart women, inspired by those worn in the desert lands—displaying its modernity by being fashioned of vivid Roman plaids shot through with silver 10.00

Third Floor

From Japan

come ombre-tinted silk kimonos—unusually charming even in a country that produces the loveliest kimonos in the world. They start at the top with palest tint, almost white, then deepen and deepen until the bottom is almost alive with vivid color. And the embroidery is typically and beautifully Japanese. In pink, purple, green and blue. The price? 12.50 but

Third Floor

From London

emerge those smartly tailored topcoats for women—almost mannish in their simplicity. They boast roomy pockets, simple lines, and the careful tailoring that distinguishes men's garments. In checks, invisibles and broken plaids, and tweeds with a fleecy surface 49.50

Fourth Floor

From Czechoslovakia

emerges a bracelet of finely cut jet, consisting of oval-shaped pieces cut in tiny square effect, held together by narrow elastic that stretches obligingly to fit one's arm. 1.00

Street Floor

From Paris

and the skilled hands of French needlewomen comes a lovingly made baby frock—beautifully and elaborately embroidered by hand, and completed with real Val lace around neck and sleeves 7.50
